Marxism Represents the Nihilism of the Upper Class, Not the Rebellion of the Lower Class

LETTER TO A BOY IN COLLEGE

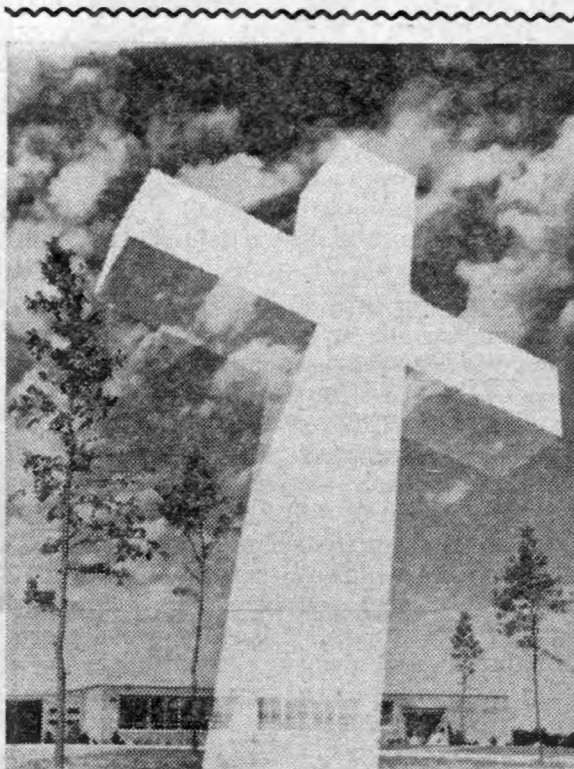

Dear Jack:

Your last letter informs me that some braying jackass has held a peace rally on your campus. Incantations have been held to conjure away the Vietnam war and the super-bombs with black magic. Really, Jack, we are living in a very dark, superstitious age when primitive magic rites of this kind are held. This sort of thing is a substitute for the realities which we as a nation choose to evade. I suggest that the best antidote for this sort of thing is to curl up with a copy of Clausewitz's "Vom Krieg." War has been with us from the beginning of recorded history. The first cities were very highly competitive in their struggle for existence. If you lived in one of the first human cities, and somebody else built a city nearby, your first thought was to destroy them. They were automatic enemies. If you did not destroy them, they might destroy you, or enslave you. Man is fundamentally a lazy slob, and perhaps something of a sadist in the bargain. It was discovered very early in the game that hard work could be avoided by taking captives and applying a leather whip vigorously to their backs and making THEM do the bitter, hard labor. Things have not changed as much as you think, Jack. Put two human power centers in juxtaposition to each other, and they become more or less automatic enemies. Out of this rivalry arises a type of operation called WAR.

Maintain Military Position

A nation which wants to stay in business must give constant thought to its military position. Unhappily, we in the United States have not done this during the last thirty years. Our military policy has been so utterly stupid that it might have been managed by idiot children. In fact, it has been managed by supposedly educated men, men who hold degrees which certify that they have attended institutions of higher learning. Let us see how such men have managed to make such an ungodly mess of our foreign affairs.

Make no mistake about it: We ARE in an ungodly mess. We have lost every worthwhile alliance we ever had. We have betrayed our friends and helped our enemies. We stand alone in the world and we stand in serious danger of destruction. Make no mistake about it, Jack: THE DANGER WE FACE IS A MILITARY DANGER. All manner of gasbags will visit your campus and tell you that "atomic war is unthinkable" since it could wipe out whole populations. Long ago, Jack, barbarians swooped down on the city of Bagdad. They looted and burned the city. They cut off the heads of every last living inhabitant. The job of killing the people was done by laborious hand work, rather than by atomic power, but the people whose heads were cut off were just as dead as if they had been killed by modern super-weapons. Why did the barbarians kill all the people of Bagdad? To get rid of them, of course. The ancient swordsman, his arm tired from chopping off so many heads, might well have welcomed a labor-saving device like the atomic bomb. Today's barbarian spirit welcomes the super-bombs as an ideal weapon of war. It fits in with the belief of some nihilists that the world is overcrowded, and that there should be a reduction of its population. Super-weapons are exactly what modern barbarism wants.

Unhappily, Jack, nihilism always disguises itself as idealism. It always pretends to be engaged in a conspiracy to confer some untold ecstasy upon the human race, where in fact it is engaged in a naked, barbaric power grab of the most vicious kind ever attempted in the whole history of man. Modern liberal-idealism is a great deal like the old-time religious hypocrite, who ran about with a Bible under his arm, and all the while coveted his neighbors' property, yearned for lechery with their wives, and secretly violated all the commandments to which he gave lip-service. Beware of the idealists, Jack. They are all phonies, to the last man. The REAL idealist is bound to look a bit "wicked" in these times,

Radical Students Aiding the Reds

Reprinted from National Education Program Letter

Communists in America are making frightening strides in mobilizing "student power" in the nation's high schools, colleges and universities for a violent revolutionary assault upon the United States and its institutions. The plan is to incite and organize millions of students into a para-military force joined to revolutionary Black Power — with which World Communism expects ultimately to overthrow the U.S. and gain dominion over all mankind.

This sounds fantastic, doesn't it?

Jerry Rubin, revolutionary leader, prominently active in Communist causes, who helped to direct the mammoth assault on the Pentagon last October, says: "The goal is a massive white revolutionary youth movement which, working in parallel cooperation with rebellions in Black communities, could seriously disrupt this country." Is this "goal" fantastic? I have before me a news dispatch from Santa Barbara, Calif. The headline says: "Students Discuss Ways to 'Destroy' Universities." A subhead says: "Revolution Proposed."

"Revolution" Spelled Out

The Santa Barbara News-Press had sent reporter, Tom O'Brien to cover a conference of college student leaders from throughout the nation, sponsored and financed by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions which was set up with Ford Foundation money. After reading the News-Press report, I wrote the Center for a full text of the speeches and discussions.

Here is one of the student leaders speaking: "I'm going to say loudly and explicitly what I mean by revolution. What I mean by revolution is overthrowing the American government and American imperialism and installing some sort of decentralized power in this country. I'll tell you the steps that I think will be needed. First of all, starting up fifty Vietnams in Third World countries. (Note: The Communists explain "Third World" as the "oppressed" people of Asia, Africa, and Latin America).

To Aid "Black Power"

"This is going to come about (continued the speaker) by Black rebellions in our cities, joined by some white people. People in universities can do a number of things to help. They have access to money and they can give these people guns, which I think they should do. They can engage in acts of terrorism and sabotage outside the ghetto . . ."

The speaker was Devereaux Kennedy, president of the student body at Washington University, St. Louis.

A fact which should cause shivers to run up the spine of all concerned Americans is (Continued on Page 4, Column 1) because he is not a quack and cannot honestly peddle false hopes. The real idealist is like Christ hanging on a cross between two thieves. He is deemed wicked in the eyes of modern man. What is called "idealism" today has been taken over one hundred percent by quacks. This lying jackass who held the peace rally on your campus is a fair sample. He claims to be able to conjure "peace" with his black magic, but his policies are exactly those which will lead to war; and not only to war, but to DEFEAT in war. He advocates a policy of weakness, compromise, and surrender. Real peace has never been made of such shoddy stuff. His words may sound glibly seductive to inexperienced youngsters, but he is a type easily recognizable to us weary and battered old men who have seen the wickedness of the wide world. He is a suicidal utopian. He is leading you down the pathways of destruction, of defeat, extinction, and oblivion. Unhappily, he also represents the same sort of policies as the men who have ruled this country for forty years.

Won Arabs Hatred

Let us consider the disasters which have happened to us in the year 1967 alone. During the month of June our mass media were full of tall tales about the great victory of Israel against the Arabs. "Our side" had won. But WHAT had we won? Among other things, we won the undying hatred of the Arabs. We lost the Middle East. We lost our West European alliances for good. DURING THE SUMMER OF 1967, WE SUFFERED A MAJOR MILITARY DISASTER. If we had sent our armies overseas, and they had been wiped out in a major military disaster, we would know that we had lost. Unhappily, the wider American public, beguiled by the Jewish press, has no idea of the magnitude of the disaster which we have suffered in 1967.

The best way to understand what we have lost is to see what Russia has gained. The Mediterranean Sea is rapidly becoming a Russian lake. The power which the French and British formerly exercised in the Middle East has melted away, leaving a power vacuum; Russia has moved in and filled that vacuum. Because of our folly of supporting Zionism, United States influence has dwindled to zero. Russia wants to have naval bases at Alexandria and other points on the North African coast. Russia wants to drive the U.S. Sixth Fleet from the Mediterranean. Above all else, Russia wants to encircle Western Europe from the south. Marxism is, in the intellectual sense, a fading star and its influence is declining in the world. Still, I would not be surprised to see communist revolutions in a couple more countries, Greece and Spain. Russia has stepped up the pressure on Greece and Spain. Momentarily, Greece has been saved from a Communist take-over by a military coup. Nevertheless, Russia wants Spain and Greece very badly, not to "spread communism," but because they fit in with her strategy of encircling Europe from the south. Marx has been subordinated to Clausewitz and Mackinder. "Whoever controls the world island controls the world," Mackinder said. Russia's purpose is to eliminate U.S. influence from the Eurasian land mass. This Russian policy has now, for all practical purposes, accomplished its purpose. We no longer have a real foothold in western Europe. There is a tendency to blame this upon the nefarious schemes of other people or nations; actually, the blame belongs to official Washington. DeGaulle is blamed for taking France out of NATO; but DeGaulle is simply a man who knows folly when he sees it, and he has no confidence in the folly of official Washington today.

Today everybody else in the world is playing a game called realpolitik. The United States alone is playing a stupid game worthy of a crowd of idiot children. In order to support the Jewish folly of Zionism, we have thrown away our last chance to become a world leader. We have justified our follies by promulgating strange myths and legends. We claim to be supporting something called "free enterprise" against "collectivism." We claim to support "freedom" against "tyranny." We claim to be a country in which "dissent" is encouraged. In fact, New York City is the real intellectual capitol of world socialism; our society has devised the most effective control mechanism in the world; and the "dissent" which you hear about is carried on chiefly by stooges of the intellectual establishment. A REAL dissenter simply disappears into obscurity and you never hear of him at all.

Marx and Freud Myths

The myths which have destroyed us are the myths which the Jews introduced among us, the myths of Marx and Freud. These myths form a complex booby-trap which has destroyed the character of the nation, corrupted national policy, and endangered our very existence. We have failed to cope with these myths, chiefly because they offer temptations to which we have succumbed. Certainly the right winger does not believe in Marxism; nevertheless, it offers him seductive temptations. It gives him a good excuse to hate the poor of his own race. Lured by the siren-song of class-hatred, he crashes onto the political rocks. When he is thus politically shipwrecked, the Jews take over the political power which the right winger formerly exercised. The right winger is "channelized" and steered expertly to his doom. All controversy which is polarized between "right" and "left" is spurious. It is not a matter of one side "losing" and the other side "winning." The same people control both sides at the top. The true believers are in the lower ranks, while cynics run the top level. The Jews know that you can't lose if you control both sides.

Our national attitude toward communism is much like our attitude toward organized crime. We are always organizing "crime commissions" which allegedly are going to wipe out organized crime. None of these commissions ever do anything. Everybody over the age of ten knows that the big-shot gangsters are really a part of the ruling political establishment, and are untouchable. They provide us with vices which we sanctimoniously deplore and eagerly patronize, such as gambling and prostitution. Likewise, we deplore communism, and always pretend that we are going to wipe it out the day after tomorrow. We will do no such thing. Actually, we protect communism as carefully as we protect gambling and prostitution, and for the same reason. It represents our hidden vices, about which we prefer to be hypocrites. It is an intellectual lever which is used to organize technological collectivism under the guise of "free enterprise." It is a useful managerial instrument, a great political weapon, and the biggest collection of lies ever manufactured by man. The biggest capitalists in the world have used it eagerly for a hundred years, and have always blamed it on the poor.

Hoover Outranked

We are led to believe that some sweet day, J. Edgar Hoover will arrest the Marxist subversives and put them out of business. He will never do any such thing. Hoover is a good cop, but the big-time Marxists outrank him. He cannot walk into the big banks of New York, which advanced hundreds of millions of dollars to bring off the October revolution in Russia, and arrest them. He would be fired, like any other cop who gets above himself. The bankers would be able to prove that they have broken no laws. If the law does not suit them they can have the law changed. The great fraud in our controversies about Marxism is the pretense that Marxism boils up from the lower levels of society, when in fact it originated and has always been supported at the VERY TOP levels of our society. Marxism does not represent the rebellion of the lower class; it represents the nihilism of the upper class, especially the Jewish upper class.

As a nation, we do not want the real truth about either organized crime or communism. We want a comfortable lie to live by. Today the myths by which we live have become so far separated from reality that they are dangerous to us.

Today the ideological war is really over. Nobody except the United States takes it seriously any more. The war of mere ideas is finished and the struggle for bare survival in an overcrowded world has begun. This struggle is by its very nature a MILITARY struggle. It is a struggle between rival power centers, whose ideological organization is a purely secondary consideration. If Russia were a capitalist nation, for example, it would make no real difference whatsoever. Some of the bitterest wars in history have been fought between capitalist nations. There is no international capitalist utopia, any more than there is an international Marxist utopia. Utopianism always represents unreality, and it is the great tragedy of today's world that quack utopianism has so badly damaged contemporary culture. The materialist cynic may think that culture is unimportant; but the growing nihilism of our time is a force which can reach inside the great industrial establishments and stop the wheels from turning. Our advanced technological civilization is the fruit of a thousand years of cultural and spiritual development; it can exist only in a favorable cultural atmosphere. Today the general level of culture and morality has sunk below an acceptable level for the support of an advanced technological civilization. This aspect of growing primitivism may further impair the ability of an overcrowded world to support itself, and thus act as an added factor leading to war.

It is a characteristic of the Jewish ideologies of Marxism and Freudianism that these ideas tend to dominate even their enemies. This is one of the great secrets of success of Jewish power-grabbing. Marxism tends to dominate the rightist, no less than the leftist. If you believe in economic determinism, it makes little difference whether you are on the right or the left. Some rightists are actually more obsessed with Marxism than the big-time communists. I have known many big-shot communists around the world, and I have never known a real big-shot communist who really believed in Marxism. They are in the business of manufacturing beliefs for other people, especially for the sucker trade, and no quack ever really believes in his own quackery. The quack must know himself to be a fraud; he cannot be merely a "mistaken" man, because then he would no longer be a competent quack. Nobody is more cynical about Marxism than the big-shot communists. Yet all the time I meet right wingers who seriously believe, or claim to believe, that Marxism is a great, dynamic movement of the world's masses, which threatens to engulf decent bourgeois folk. I have mentioned before that a strong possibility exists of communist revolutions in Spain and Greece. These revolutions are promoted simply as part of Russia's nationalistic military strategy, and not as part of an "international revolution of the proletariat." Russia wants to turn the Mediterranean Sea into a Russian lake and to encircle Western Europe from the south. This is NOT in accordance with Marxist principles, but rather with classic GEOPOLITIK. In other words, Russia is playing a really smart game, while we are living in a dream world.

CIA Accused In French Unrest

RABAT, Morocco, May 28 (Reuters).—The Central Intelligence Agency of the United States and international Zionism were responsible for the violent disorder in France, the Morocco opposition daily newspaper l'Opinion said Tuesday.

It alleged the CIA used subversive activities through European student organizations to overthrow governments, and this method was being used in France because of President Charles de Gaulle's "anti-Americanism."

LETTER TO A BOY IN COLLEGE

Bankrupt Policy

We have come to a time of total bankruptcy of policy in the United States. We have lost our allies. We are isolated and alone in the world. This is mainly our own fault. I would not give a dime for the whole tribe of civilian politicians in the United States today. I have known a great many of them, at city, county, state, and federal levels. I do not even associate with them any more. Why pick the company of such a rabble? It would do no good to elect so-called conservatives to office, either. They are all riding the "right-left merry-go-round." You are really nowhere until you escape the whole "right-left orbit" of thinking.

We really have only one sound leadership element left in the United States today: our military officers. The military officer may have been no different from anyone else during his childhood. He probably grew up in the same sort of home as the rest of us, got about the same preliminary education, and so on. Nevertheless, his training in a service academy, and his experience in war, have brought him to an understanding of the realities which confront us today, an understanding almost wholly missing from the civilian sector. The civilian sector lives in an 'Alice's Wonderland in which the U.N. Assembly becomes a parliament of the world, and everybody submits tamely to the substitution of intellectual force for physical force in international relations. The civilian sector talks of "disarmament" at a time when we are in the greatest physical danger in all our history. The civilian sector has allowed our military technology to stagnate until we are dangerously behind Russia in the arms race. The basic fault of the civilian sector in America is that it has based its policy upon the theory of the victory of intellectual force over physical, military force in the government of the world. In the U.S.A., all of the professional liberals represent the rule of intellectual force as pure idealism, while rule by military force is deplored as "reactionary" and obsolete. This is THE central article of faith among the liberals. You will see this idea expressed in any issue of the Saturday Review, or The Nation, or The New Republic. Now and then a maverick liberal strikes a sour note. Malcombe Muggeridge has suggested in several magazine articles that the modern liberal is really the greatest monster of all history, and that he will cause greater disasters and more suffering than Genghis Khan, Tamerlane, Hitler, Stalin, and all of the other great, talented sadists combined.

Dominating the World

The idea of dominating the world by intellectual force is NOT the ultimate idealism, as you will be led to believe. It is the ultimate nihilism. It is the greatest single piece of rascality ever attempted in all history. Marxism is merely one tool of the attempt to dominate the world by sheer intellectual power. The conspiracy has many other weapons at its disposal, including false and prostituted religion, the techniques of information-control, and the so-called behavioral sciences. It yearns to make opposition to itself impossible by control of the collective mind of man. Men who yearn for such a thing deserve the whip, the branding iron, and the gallows. Yet they parade themselves everywhere today as "idealists."

I would not give a dime for the whole civilian sector of the U.S.A. today, including both the right and the left. What we really need is a military aristocracy. We are a long way from having any such thing. We have the finest military officers in the world, but, because of our long-standing tradition of civilian control of the military, we do not have a military aristocracy ready to spring into political action. This may well be a great disaster for the country, for we desperately need the political talents of military officers today. Indonesia was saved from communism, not by the civilian sector, but by the military. Greece was saved from a communist take-over last year by a military coup. In my opinion, the situation of the United States has reached a great enough stage of desperation to justify a military takeover. But no such thing will occur. For one thing, it would not be accepted by public opinion. The establishment which rules us in corruption and degeneracy thought of that possibility long ago. They have kept up a constant drum-fire and anti-military propaganda for many years. Norman Mailer's novel "The Naked and the Dead," is a prime example. Mailer depicts the military officer in his novel as a fascist power-grabber, intent upon grinding the faces of the people. Nowhere in the book is there any depiction of the armed forces as the shield of the republic, the protectors of the nation's dignity and security. Mailer is, in my opinion, a sorry kind of writer, but he knows how to read the signals from "on high," and he has been hailed and promoted by the mass media as the greatest literary genius since William Shakespeare.

Wrong Ideas

Today we are ideologically bankrupt. We do not merely hold "wrong" ideas. We have proven ourselves incompetent to deal with ideas. Our literary, academic and intellectual leadership have failed us, indeed betrayed us. The only hope lies in the military sector, and we appear little inclined to give the military a chance to protect and save us. Decisions of the future will be military decisions in any case, since the effort to dominate the world by sheer intellectual power has failed, is failing, and will continue to fail. Actually, it failed fifty years ago. Yet it appears that this failure may have to be demonstrated by a great world-wide disaster before it will be accepted by the generality of mankind. If such a disaster is necessary to convince a biped called man of the folly of his blind, ignorant pride, then such a disaster will indeed occur. The rabble of political party hacks who rule us as front men for the largely Jewish establishment did not cause our present troubles; they are not smart enough to have made this much trouble for us; but neither can they extricate us from our troubles. Our political party system rests upon a broad base of cheap crooks at the state and municipal level, whose little minds stretch only far enough to cover crooked paving contracts or good payoffs from the vice racket; upon this broad base of corruption, the "national" elements of the political parties rest. In terms of national and international issues, elected party politicians are governed by an establishment which is not elected, indeed not even known to the wider public. These people who rule over us have given an adequate demonstration of their incompetence. They have failed to provide for the safety of the nation. They cannot maintain our position in international relationships; they can think only of the Jewish vote in the pivotal state of New York. They cannot even maintain domestic order, and have awarded our erstwhile faith in them with riots and with a crime situation which itself is on the verge of turning into an open riot. I am no longer interested in even hearing whether a political party hack is on the "left" or the "right." If he is on the "left" he is one kind of gasbag; if he is on the "right" he is another kind of gasbag. In either case, he is only a front man for the Jewish establishment which really rules over us. I see no hope in the political parties, and

I advise you, Jack, not to waste your valuable time on them. I also advise you not to waste your valuable time listening to "peace" speeches on the campus. These "peace quacks" are really advance men for World War III. You ask me how we can save the contemporary civilization? In my own mind, I wrote off the contemporary civilization twenty years ago. Nevertheless, Jack, there will be a day of battle in which the future of mankind, perhaps even the question of the future existence or non-existence of mankind, will be decided. When that battle comes, those whose sense of reality is unimpaired by the follies and lies of these times will know which side is the right side. You asked me what "movement" or "organization" you should join? I suggest that you restrain your youthful enthusiasm until the right movement comes along. If you cultivate your mind properly and develop real nobility of soul, you will know the right thing to do!

JEWISH AGITATION OF THE BLACK REVOLUTION

By A. CHRISTIAN

Jewish agitation of the present black revolutionary uprising was never more startlingly revealed than at the Yale University, New Haven, Conn., on Saturday, April 27, 1968, when a seizure of power from the white legal leaders of America was staged by the black militants of New Haven through the connivance of the Jewish dean of the Law School, Dean Louis H. Pollak.

In the midst of a panel discussion on the urban crisis, participated in by several law school deans, black militant leaders appeared and staged a coup, moved down the aisle onto the platform, wrested the microphone out of the hands of the moderator, took over some of the chairs of the panel members, and urged those present to quit their own meeting which the blacks castigated as futile and useless, and urged the lawyers to follow them to their own rival "black power" meeting in another room of the law school.

The white attorneys of the nation were paralyzed and speechless at this show of force by the black invaders, not realizing that the whole thing had been staged with the connivance of Dean Pollak.

For a few dramatic seconds it appeared that violence would erupt, but the attorneys showed the control which their training in civilization had given them, and the "take-over" by the black militants was from their point of view a complete revolutionary success. Considering the place and circumstances, it was probably the most startling and dramatic preview of revolution staged anywhere in America in this time of crisis.

The lawyers got a taste of what they are up against when their Jewish overlords let loose "black power" to complete the destruction of Christian civilization, which has already been so weakened by their takeover of TV, radio, the news media, and perhaps most brazenly of all, the entertainment world, where every precept of Christ and the Ten Commandments is flaunted and mocked day after day.

that, according to reports given at this national conference of student leaders, approximately 10 per cent of all students in our colleges and universities follow such revolutionary leadership, and such young revolutionaries as Kennedy now hold student body presidencies in about half the colleges and universities!

Stan Wise, one of the conferees, secretary of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), said American institutions must be destroyed. He proudly said SNCC was "absolutely without doubt responsible for the race riots throughout the country" last summer.

The Communist press in America, and its radical, revolutionary "sister" publications, including many "underground" college newspapers, are full of reports on ramifications of the "coming revolution." Always the "student power" revolution is tied in with the revolutionary Black Power forces.

REDS MOBILIZING YOUTH

Communists working skillfully and effectively within our country, now that the U.S. Supreme Court has virtually demolished the legal safeguards against them, have mounted a mammoth revolutionary youth movement with the aim of destroying American capitalism and overthrowing our Republic. The "World Student Strike," with its most significant manifestations in the U.S., is but a part of the agitation and operational plan.

"Political Affairs," the theoretical "journal of the Communist Party, U.S.A.," gives full credit to the Party for (1) mobilizing radical American youth into a force which now has reached frightening proportions, and (2) for welding various facets of the revolutionary youth movement, including a "Black Youth" force into a "United Front" which will ultimately function as part of the "anti-imperialist" revolution to overthrow the U.S.

Working for Twin Goals

Two months ago at the University of Chicago, a "front" called "Student Mobilization Committee" brought together in conference approximately 1,000 leaders of nation-wide youth organizations, ranging from college YMCA's and "Student Christian" movements, to revolutionary Black Power elements and well-known Communist-front youth groups such as the W. E. DuBois Clubs. The Communists dominated the conference, and in the end won their most important goal, the unification of divergent youth groups into a nation-wide revolutionary force.

The key conference "unity" resolution was written by self-proclaimed Communist, Bettina Aptheker, whom "Political Affairs" described as spokesman for the Communist Party and a member of the DuBois Clubs." It was an obvious move by the Communist apparatus to draw white youth organizations together with the revolutionary Blacks in the two primary goals which are today paramount in Communist strategy: (1) U.S. pull-out of the Vietnam war, leaving victory for World Communism, and (2) "self-determination" for the "Black people," meaning takeover and control by Negroes in cities and communities where they are in the majority, including Washington, D.C.

The Communist Boast

Here are the Communist boasts, as printed in their official journal (for guidance of the revolutionaries throughout the country); "For the first time since the Thirties there will be a student strike. Of course, though it has been agreed to in conference, it will take long, hard work and much skill to carry it through on each campus. For the first time in years there will take place a mass student action which will mobilize both black and white students."

The Chicago conference, the Communist publication says, "is another concrete proof of the critical importance in the student youth movement of a Marxist youth organization based on a working-class approach. The fact that only the DuBois Clubs were capable of raising these questions (of white and black coalition of the "oppressed") shows the importance of such an approach."

Above group of Jews, all publishers, are constantly bombarding colleges with literature that is polluting the minds of students. Through radicals such as these, one can plainly see the Zionist hand directing and controlling the thinking of the New Left. From left to right: Allan Katzman, managing editor of Manhattan's "East Village Other," who hopes to transform the Middle Class through media and LSD; Michael Kindman, editor of "The Paper," of East Lansing, Mich.; Art Kunkin, publisher of Los Angeles "Free Press," who studied at the New School for Social Research; Harvey Ovshinsky, editor, started the "Fifth Estate of Detroit," because "the liberals, the hippies and the anarchists have no organ . . ."; Max Scherr, editor of a weekly, "The Berkeley (California) Barb."

DICK GREGORY AT YALE

In the early 30's it became "fashionable" in crackpot "intellectual" circles throughout America to champion the Communist cause. The term "Pinko" was coined to describe what later was to be called "Fellow Travelers," those who aid the Red conspiracy. Some Americans woke up in the 50's decade when Communists in strategic positions within the American government were caught in espionage activities which aided the Soviet Union in every step of their development of nuclear power. The Smith Act was passed and we began as a nation to erect some semblance of a safeguard against Red subversion.

The setback wasn't taken lightly by World Communism. The Reds geared all their propaganda and penetration apparatuses to breaking the safeguards and toward returning Communism to "respectability" inside America. They were successful. Through Supreme Court decisions, the internal security laws were virtually nullified. Colleges began again to have Communist speakers address student assemblies. The louder a Red official would condemn the American system, the more popularity he seemed to achieve at some of America's biggest universities.

Today the "radicals" are having their greatest popularity as university and college speakers.

Dick Gregory, Negro comedian and self-styled "racist," was the featured speaker at the Yale University annual dinner for the graduating class this January. He had reached the pinnacle as a campus lecturer, apparently, when he threatened to close down the Democratic National Convention in Chicago next August with a "Black Power" uprising. Here is an excerpt (completely in context) from his full address to the Yale Seniors and their professors:

Will Burn Down U.S.

"Let me tell you something tonight: we will burn your house down to the ground (and we mean that), if you think you are going to keep talking this insane and think you going to keep on insulting us like this we'll burn it down to the ground, man. This is what we trying to say. We are sick and tired of your insults and we not going to take them anymore, whether you like it or not.

"Let me ask you to raise your hands. How many of you read when Henry Ford, 3 1/2 weeks ago hired 6,000 Negroes? Any of you read that in the paper? Did you also read that they didn't have to take the tests when they hired them?

"Henry Ford, one of the largest corporations in the world, hired 6,000 niggers in two days. Why do you think they hired them? Because of non-violence? You — right know it wasn't that! The fire got too close to the Ford plant, baby. Don't scorch the Mustangs, Baby. You-all, running around talking about how riots hurt, do you realize how long it would have taken us through peaceful channels to get 6,000 black folks hired and through those tests . . . ?

American Flag "A Rag"

"Let me speak briefly on the insanity of that war in Vietnam, and the insane country that you coming out into, the laws that we pass, and this flag sitting right here. We just got an insane law to say you can't burn an American flag. I say, what in the . . .

is the American flag but a - - rag like all the other flags all over the world. I'm not interested in rags . . . "

"America is a cigarette machine to us. We didn't put forty cents in it to get something that was going to make us sick, we put 400 years of our lives in that machine, baby, to get something that was going to make us well, and we didn't get nothing, man . . . So in the form of Detroit, Watts and Chicago we kicked that machine . . . Now we gonna break this machine up in little, bitty pieces; that's what we say!"

No wonder our nation is on the brink of disaster!

Russia Condemns New Left Jew-Student Revolutionists

MOSCOW—MAY 30th: Yuri Zhukov, foreign expert for PRAVDA, today bitterly attacked the leading figures of the so-called New Left movement. Linking together Cohn-Bendit, Zionist leader of the Paus student revolt, Herbert Morcuse, Jew refugee ideologist of New Left and the New York Times. Mr. Zhukov accused these three of plotting against the Soviet Union and of fomenting ultra leftist dissidence in the West. The teachings of Morcuse were attacked as "super-revolutionary" and Trotskyite (Leon Trotsky, Jewish revolutionary, real name Bronstein, agent of international banking houses who looted Russia after Bolshevik revolution). M. Zhukov also accused the New York Times of condemning the French labor leadership for seeking to avoid violence. Student revolutionaries had agitated the workers into rejecting the wage settlements agreed upon by DeGaulle and the Communist-led unions. Informed observers of the French situation believe the C.I.A., working with the international money lenders and the New Left revolutionaries, fomented the strife in order to weaken the French monetary system. DeGaulle's fiscal independence and anti-Zionist stance have made him persona non grata with world liberalism.
